Photo by Bill Pitt, Jr.

Owner Henry "Butch" Southway of SMS Racing LLC, a notable Quarter Horse owner, got his biggest win of the year, with his first and only thoroughbred, Gimmesumoneyhoney, during the Rio Grande Futurity at Ruidoso Downs on July 24. The chestnut colt by Prospector Jones out of Rino's Pleasure was purchased by Southway at the Ruidoso Thoroughbred sale last year from breeder Richard Brunacini for $20,000.

Sent to post by trainer Tony Sedillo with Adan Fuentes in the saddle, Gimmesumoneyhoney dominated the race from the start as he stole an early 2 1/2-length lead while setting comfortable fractions of :22.40, :45.40, and :58.20 for the early stages. Turning for home Gimmesumoneyhoney was all alone and pulled away from his nearest rivals, Runmore Mema and Don E Looker by a dominating 4 1/2-lengths while running the 6-furlongs in 1:12.60.

"This is the first thoroughbred that I've ever owned," said Southway. "I am really into the Quarters, but Tony (Sedillo) liked this colt and we bought him. We could have sold him and made a good profit just minutes after, but Tony wouldn't let me." Gimmesumoneyhoney was unnamed when he was purchased and Southway named the colt because he says his wife, Izora, never has her purse with her whenever they go to the races and she is always telling Butch "Gimmesumoney Honey".

Gimmesumoneyhoney earned $34,871 for the victory and at the same time breaking his maiden in his fifth start. He had run two seconds and one third from his previous four outings including a second place finish in his trial to the Rio Grande.

Trainer Tony Sedillo stated that inexperience has been his only real problem. "He just has been running green," said Sedillo. "He qualified for the Riley Allison Futurity, but he shin-bucked so we didn't run him back. Most times he would go to the lead and hang. It has just taken him a while to find out what he's supposed to do. He ran good today and really ran on the end. He really improved from his trial race, because he wanted to hang a little in it, but today he really went on with it and really ran strong on the end." According to his connections, Gimmesumoneyhoney will more than likely make his next start in the George Maloof trials at the State Fair. And according to his trainer, Butch Southway will probably be purchasing a few thoroughbreds for next year.

Second placed finisher, Runmore Mema earned $15,344 for owners Steve and Paul Prather. The Jack Wilson colt was sent to post by Fred Danley and ridden by James "Bo" White. Don E Looker earned $8,369 for owners R.D. Hubbard and John T.L. Jones. The He's A Looker colt was saddled by Gerald Marr and ridden by Fernando Gamez. Remaining order of finish was: Lacey 'screation, Justa Spirit, Time For Roses, Joe Two Lips, Braxtons Relyk, Joseph Star and Bravo Dome Cat.
