STALLION EVA FORM

The Stallion EVA forms were mailed out last week.

The forms must be returned by February 1, 2024.

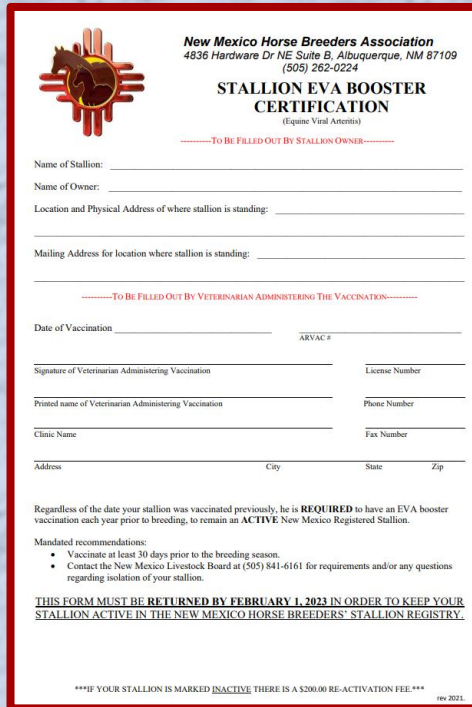

Contact your veterinarian ASAP to schedule your stallion's EVA vaccination!
They must request a vaccine for EACH stallion from the NM Livestock Board.

If not returned by the deadline, your stallion will be marked INACTIVE and it will cost $200 to RE-ACTIVATE!!

EVA REQUIREMENTS FOR STALLIONS IN OUR REGISTRY

All NM registered stallions must have an annual EVA booster vaccination. Per NM Livestock Board regulations, they must be quarantined for 28 days after receiving the booster because it is a live virus and can be passed to other horses.

EVA Booster Certification Form

The form is titled "STALLION EVA BOOSTER CERTIFICATION" and is issued by the New Mexico Horse Breeders Association. It includes fields for the stallion's name, owner's name, location, and mailing address. It also has sections for the veterinarian administering the vaccination, including their signature, license number, and clinic information. A section for "Mandated recommendations" lists requirements like vaccination 30 days prior to breeding and contacting the NM Livestock Board. A warning at the bottom states that the form must be returned by February 1, 2024, to keep the stallion active in the registry, and that a $200 re-activation fee applies if marked inactive.

EVA REQUIREMENTS FOR NEW STALLIONS

All stallions MUST have a negative EVA test and be vaccinated for EVA within 10 days of the COLLECTION date according to the rules of the New Mexico Livestock Board before you can register them in the NM Permanent Stallion Registry.

Initial EVA Certification Form

Online Stallion Registry Form

The forms are being mailed to the mailing address where the stallion stands.
If you do not receive one, please call us so that we can send one to you as soon as possible.

LEROY TIPTON

 New Mexico
Horse Breeder
May/June 2002

New Mexico
Horseman
Leroy Tipton

Leroy Tipton: Horseman

by Toni Edwards

The definition of the word 'horseman' in the dictionary goes something like this: horse'man n. a man skilled in the riding or care of horses. A rider, jockey, cowboy.

Well, that fits Leroy Tipton pretty much to a tee. He's done just about everything you can think of that has to do with horses.

Born in San Bernadino, southern California in 1939, he started riding with a saddle horse he got when he was about 13 years old and he's been riding ever since.

"One day at a Gymkana, Eddie Marino came over and asked me if I wanted to be a jockey. Well, naturally back in those days, everyone wanted to be an Arcaro, or a Shoemaker or a Johnny Longdon 'cause then they were the big names in racing.

"In 1957 I went to Denver, where I started riding. I had started working for a guy named Knute Bunyard. I was working at Sunland Park and then I went over to Los Alamitos in California. I had worked at Pamona and Bay Meadows too, also in California.

"When you start out you don't start out as a jockey...most people don't. I was like everybody else, I started cleaning stalls and walkin hots...we didn't have horse walkers back then, we had to walk them by hand.

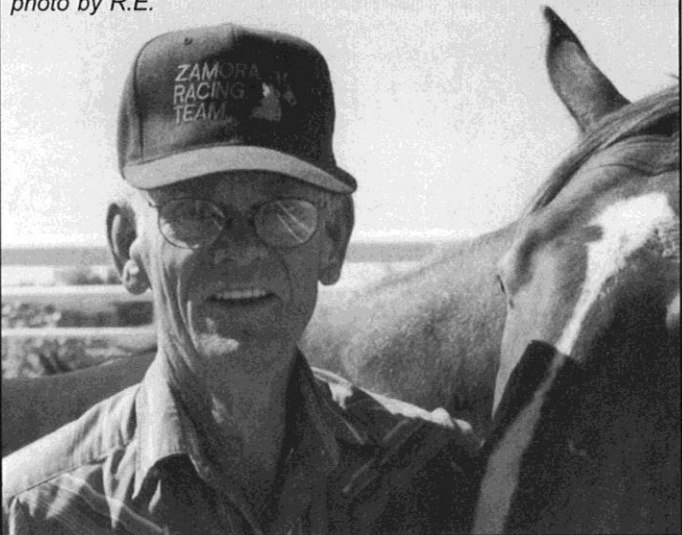

"I worked for Joe Welsh, who's the dad of Mike Welsh who trains horses now...until I met Pat Thompson and Pat and Jay Fishborn, who was another rider; they're the two that really helped me and got me started and did what they could for me.

"That's what it takes...somebody that's got a little confidence in you, to help you get started. I rode Pat's horses for him...I guess I should have rode for other people or outside horses and sometimes I did but most of the time I rode mainly for that stable, where Jack Casement owned the horses. We did well together.

"Racetrack riding brought me to New Mexico. I came back to La Mesa Park, where I met my wife. That's what kept me in New Mexico. She is from Raton and we used New Mexico as an address and bought a home here. We were married for thirty years and have three lovely daughters...Jamie, Lorie and Dawn. Jamie is married to jockey Chris Zamora and Lorie is engaged to Tim Cross, a trainer in Ruidoso. Dawn is not around the racetrack as much as the others, but she does come around to help at the barn some. They're very nice girls. Of course, I would say that," he said with a proud grin as he displayed a picture of his three pretty daughters.

"I would have to say that She Kitty was the best horse I ever rode. Little Chloe was just a little bit faster than She Kitty but She Kitty would give it to you every trip; she would run her heart out for you." This last was said with obvious delight and fond memories of a good friend. "Little Chloe you had to drag her every jump of the way. And Kitty had a lot more success than Chloe. Chloe had some chips and some problems. Pokie Bar was the only horse I couldn't beat with these mares. I never did beat that horse...but every other horse I ever run at, she could outrun."

There's a wonderful picture of Leroy on She Kitty in The Complete Book of the Quarter Horse by Nelson Nye. He also has a watercolor of the same picture, along with a lifetime of other priceless memorabilia.

Leroy said he'd been fortunate as far as injuries are concerned. "I've had a few broken ribs, concussion, etc. but as far as being broken up, I've been pretty lucky. I had a broken collarbone once, but that was on a motorcycle."

Below: Trainer Pat Thompson with She Kitty after her win in the Ruidoso Quarter Horse Futurity Trials in 1961.

New Mexico Horse Breeder May/June 2002

He showed a picture of himself straddling an amazing Oryx buck (which is a large African antelope) with huge swordlike horns that he shot right here in New Mexico near White Sands. I thought he'd been to Africa, but he said no and then went on to say that the Oryx actually grow bigger here than they do in Africa because the water and climate are better for them. "We do a lot of hunting together," referring to he and his son-in-law, Chris Zamora.

He worked as a steward from 1988 to 1997 or so...in New Mexico and Wyoming...La Mesa Park, The Downs at Albuquerque, Santa Fe and Sunland Park. "It was a good job; I liked it. I guess it's like anything else, when you're coming up from the backside and understanding what happens and what goes on over there. I probably had a little more insight or feeling of what happened or what caused something to happen. It's like a big family on the backside. It's their own little Peyton Place or whatever. They might be mad at one another today but tomorrow they're back working together and if somebody needs something, a neighbor will help him. Basically they're a bunch of good people, hard working. Most of 'em don't have a lot, they've worked hard for what they do, but they enjoy doing it."

Now Leroy is a paddock judge and identifier, checking tattoos and making sure the right horse is in the right stall at the right time to be saddled.

"I've worked as an entry clerk in the racing office, paddock judge, identifier, clerk of scales, jockey and now a trainer...the farm part of it...watching after the broodmares, foaling the babies, breaking the older horses." He's also galloped stallions and worked as a coal miner.

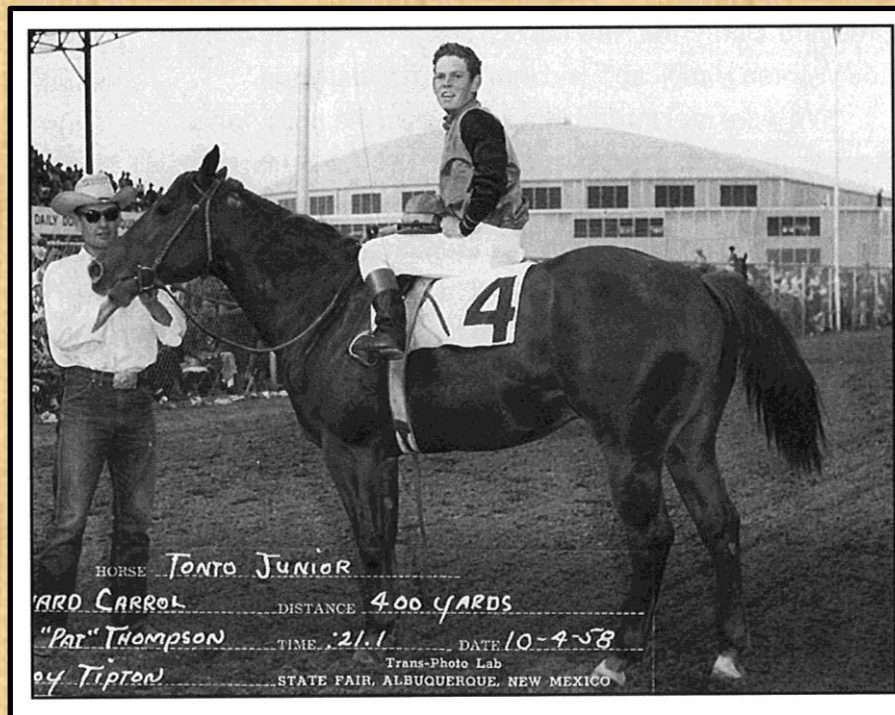

DO YOU REMEMBER...

At the present time all of the horses that Leroy works with at the BLM Racing Farm in Tomé, belong to Robert Maes, a successful insurance broker in Albuquerque, but he is planning to take outside horses after he gets some more pens built. "Right now it's taking care of what we've got or having room to handle them."

Leroy is presently involved in getting yearlings ready for sales and then doing race training on older horses, strengthening muscles, teaching racetrack etiquette and repairing damage from races and giving race horses a good place to rest up and heal from the hard work of race season.

The horses at the track are trained by Leroy's daughter Jamie Zamora and ridden by her husband, jockey Chris Zamora. It's a real family -team effort and pays off with healthy, well-conditioned horses that win races.

When asked what he thought of the current state of affairs in New Mexico racing Leroy said, "It's changed for the better and it'll get better. And the biggest reason in my opinion for it getting better is the New Mexico-bred breeding program and casino gambling. And we get a certain percent of that into our purses and that's what brought our purses up. I remember when purses around here were $250 plus 5% of the handle...so it's changed. I think it will do nothing but make horse racing in the state bigger and better. They're talking about opening a track at Hobbs...to get the Texas population to come over to the casino gambling. We need more racing in New Mexico; we need it because there's so many people who have mediocre to bottom class horses that don't have any place to run."

Leroy believes that everyone should have a place to run his or her horse, even if that horse isn't the best in the world and that might help improve the stock even more...getting the lesser horses into shape and keeping them healthy.

He's very enthusiastic about New Mexico and the horses here and the industry that surrounds the tracks.

Leroy Tipton is a kind and generous man, gentle-voiced and smiling; ever-ready to talk of what he loves most...horses and the land they live on and the many memories that have given him a rich and satisfying life doing what he loves...being a horseman.

If a registered NM Broodmare in foal to a registered NM Stallion leaves the state of New Mexico:

- The application and the $500 fee must be postmarked no later than the deadline of October 1st of the breeding year. If the application and $500 fee are NOT received by the applicable deadline, there is a ten day grace period and then the fee increases to $1,000 for the foal to be eligible for NM Bred status.
- Every donor mare and every recipient mare that is taken to board out of state must have their own form filled out and you must pay $500.00 for each or the larger $1,000 penalty if the October 1 deadline is missed.
